ELKS' BAND TO PLAY CONCERTS FOR PATRIOTS

Bismarck Organization to Present Two Fine Programs Tomorrow

36 YOUNG WOMEN WILL DECORATE CANDIDATES

Khaki Arm Badge to Be Provided Everyone Who Registers in Capital City

Concerts by the Bismarck Elks' band, community singing and patriotic addresses will be features of Bismarck's observance of Registration day tomorrow. The band will play in the Northern Pacific park at 10 a. m., and again at 2 p. m., under the leadership of G. W. Cochran. The Elks' band has donated its services for this occasion, and the music will be its contribution to the concerted effort which will be exerted throughout North Dakota tomorrow to make Registration day a real festival of patriotism.

During the afternoon at the Northern Pacific park addresses will be made by Gen. E. A. Williams and an officer of the army and others, and there will be community singing led by R. F. Marquis. Members of Companies A and K from Camp Frazier and Fort Lincoln will drill under the direction of Major Wright. The manual of arms will be executed, and there will be other military maneuvers.

Badges.

A "select service order" badge of brown khaki will be pinned upon the arm of every man who registers in Bismarck tomorrow. Thirty-six young women of St. Mary's sodality have volunteered for this service, and from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. they will be in attendance at the various registration booths, prepared to reward those who respond to President Wilson's call. The members of the sodality will assemble at the Commercial club rooms at 7 in the morning and march to the polling places. The first detail will be relieved during the day by a second, and a third detail will stand the "dog watch," remaining on duty until 9 o'clock, when the registration closes.

Everybody Decorate.

Every business house, public institution and private home in Bismarck tomorrow is expected to display the national colors and to otherwise make visible demonstration of its patriotism. The important day in the nation's history will be ushered in at 7 a. m. with the ringing of bells and sounding of whistles. A similar salute will mark the close of the day at 9. There will be no general suspension of business, but every employer who has men of the prescribed ages in his service will be expected to do his bit by making it easy for them to register.

Bandsmen Complimented.

Secretary G. N. Keniston of the Bismarck Commercial club has warm praise for the Elks' band which has been ready to respond to every call this spring, and has at no time received a penny's compensation for its services. It has done more than any other one factor to make the various patriotic demonstrations held in this city a success, and has, Secretary Keniston feels, more than ever won the high regard of the community.

Mine Explosion Fatal to Five

Kanimo, N. C., June 4.—Five men were instantly killed and much damage done to No. 6 mine at Cumberland as the result of a terrific explosion of unknown cause yesterday.

The five victims were members of a surveying party and were mapping out new work for the week. The mine is under the heart of Cumberland, and the town was shocked by the explosion.

Boys in Gray Hold Reunion

Washington, June 4.—On the eve of the formal opening of the annual reunion, Confederate veterans to the number of several thousands had arrived today and special trains from the south swelled their ranks. The house of representatives is in recess until Wednesday, in honor of the veterans and for registration day, and the senate probably will recess today until Wednesday to permit members to attend a welcome.

Registration Facts

Seven Points to Bear in Mind Regarding Manpower Mobilization June 5.

There are seven important points to remember about draft registration, which the war department asked all American newspapers to print today. Here they are:

- 1.—There is only one day for registration and that is Tuesday, June 5, 1917.
 - 2.—Every male resident of the United States who has passed his 21st and not reached his 31st birthday must register, with the exception of members of the army, navy and marines, members of the national guard or naval militia while in federal service, and men of the reserve corps while in active service.
 - 3.—Registration is distinct from draft and all must register, regardless of claims to exemption.
 - 4.—The penalty for failure to register is not a fine, but imprisonment.
 - 5.—Sick persons should send at once for registration blanks and should fill them out and send them to the registrars of their voting precincts with self-addressed stamped envelopes for the return of certificates. The blanks are supplied by county clerks and, in cities of more than 30,000, by city clerks.
 - 6.—Persons who expect to be absent from their voting precincts registration day should apply at once to county or city clerks, wherever they may be in stopping, for registration blanks, fill them out and submit them to the county or city clerks. The clerks will record the answers and return the cards, which should be mailed promptly to the registrars of the absentees' home precincts. Self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be enclosed to insure return of registration certificates.
 - 7.—Registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. June 5.
- The war department urged that every man within the conscription age limits study these seven points carefully.

LANTRY BOOSTED; MAY HANDLE WAR TRAFFIC ON N. P.

Big Advancement Comes to Popular Superintendent of Yellowstone Division

Mandan, June 4.—Supt. T. H. Lantry, who for the past eight years has been superintendent of the Yellowstone division of the Northern Pacific with headquarters at Glendive, and who has become one of the most popular men in the middle west, was Sunday promoted to an assistant general manager of the Northern Pacific, with headquarters at St. Paul. Another rumor has it that he will be assigned to an important post handling the war situation for the Northern Pacific. The nature of his promotion is expected to be made public today or tomorrow.

G. H. Jacobs, third assistant to the general superintendent, has been promoted to the position of division superintendent of the Yellowstone division of the Northern Pacific to succeed Mr. Lantry. He is a young man of great railroad ability and comes to this division as one of the most promising young railroad superintendents in the country.

Hundreds of friends are pleased to hear that Mr. Lantry was promoted to a responsible berth. He is a most able railroad man, and his many friends in Mandan as well as other points on the Yellowstone division, dislike very much to see him leave.

Superintendent Lantry passed thru Mandan yesterday morning en route to St. Paul to assume his new duties.

Opposition to Registration In Burleigh

Sheriff French was advised today of a number of young men in various sections of the county who, encouraged by professional agitators, have announced their intention of not registering tomorrow.

"I am very sorry to learn of this," said Sheriff French, this morning, "for it will leave no recourse but to arrest every one of these men and to subject them to the heavy penalties provided by law."

The men in question and those suspected of responsibility for their attitude are watched, and any effort on their part to leave the county tonight or tomorrow will result in immediate arrest.

SLACKERS WILL BE PROSECUTED SAYS GREGORY

Final Warnings Against Evasion of Draft Registration Issued by Attorney General

SOCIALIST ARRESTED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Charged With Distributing Literature Hostile to Conscription

Measure

Washington, June 4.—Final warning against evasion of the draft registration tomorrow, or attempts to induce others to evade it, was issued today by Attorney General Gregory. He said he expected a few men in each community to refuse to register, but did not anticipate it would be necessary to resort to force.

"It is the duty of this department to prosecute evaders, and it is proposed to do so," said the attorney general.

It was announced today that the requirements of the new law, that the registration cards of men absent from home precincts, reach the precinct registrar before 5:00 tomorrow would not be enforced against Americans now abroad.

To Draft 900,000.

Plans of the war department to draft from 600,000 to 1,000,000 men from the ten million men who, it is estimated, will register tomorrow for the army draft, were explained today before the senate military committee by Provost Marshal General Crowder, in charge of the draft.

Exemption, he said, probably will result in reducing the number to 625,000 for immediate service. While the war department had originally planned to select 500,000 men, General Crowder told the committee the plans had been revised and it is now proposed to require 150,000 more to fill vacancies in the army of 500,000 and to keep training camps in continuous operation.

Necessity Has Come.

When the original plans for service were made for half a million men, (Continued on Page Three)

PRICE FIXING ASSURED SAYS EQUITY HEAD

J. M. Anderson Intimates Government Will Supervise Grain Exchanges Carefully

FOOD HOARDERS WILL BE DEALT WITH

St. Paul, Minn., June 4.—J. M. Anderson of the Equity Cooperative exchange, who returned from Washington yesterday, where he conferred with President Wilson, Secretary Hoover and Secretary Houston of the agriculture department, said these men agreed the farmers should be guaranteed a certain price for their products.

Mr. Anderson was one of a committee of seven appointed under the direction of the Equity exchange at a recent meeting of the farmers of the Northwest at Fargo, N. D., to meet with President Wilson, Mr. Hoover and Secretary Houston, the house food committee, to discuss and the committee of agriculture of the food situation, particularly as it affects the Northwest.

To Encourage Production.

"The government feels the necessity of encouraging the production of agricultural products and believes this can best be done by guaranteeing prices to farmers," said Mr. Anderson. "All officials express themselves as being opposed to speculation and especially to the hoarding of food products by middlemen. We were given to understand that when any indication of hoarding occurred, the government would step in and take possession of the food material."

"We have reason to believe that the grain exchanges will be watched during the war and that the discrimination which they have practiced against the farmers' organizations will not be tolerated."

While in Washington, Mr. Anderson filed complaint with the federal trade commission against the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, asking relief from the campaign it is alleged the chamber of commerce is conducting against the Equity exchange.

U. S. Mission To Russia Has Landed

Makes Rapid Trip to Slav Empire and Now Is Enroute to Petrograd

EXPECTED TO REACH CAPITAL BY JUNE 11

A Russian port, June 4.—The American commission to Russia, headed by Elihu Root, which arrived here safely this morning, left this afternoon for Petrograd, after calling on various officials. The Root party will probably reach Petrograd June 11.

TEUTONS LEAVE DESOLATION IN OCCUPIED LAND

Only Building Used to House Prince Frederick Left Standing in Chaunay Region

FRENCH ASSISTED HIS HIGHNESS TO REDUCE

Noyon, France, May 18 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The only building remaining intact in the region of Chaunay after the retreat of the Germans, was a wooden structure, a rustic fence around the building bearing this legend: "Eitel Friedrich Schanz" (Eitel Friedrich redoubt).

The place was not fortified and the supposition is that it served as a resting place for the prince between his spells of work as a gardener, prescribed by his doctors to reduce his weight. The veranda commands a scene of ruin and desolation.

The second division of the Prussian guard, under Prince Eitel's orders, operated in the region. The evidence of the inhabitants is that the occupants left no hardship untried on them. In no other place was the country more devastated.

Find Papers.

Papers of the prince were found where he occupied the chateau belonging to Count Palmy at the end of October, 1915. French aviators located him there and he left suddenly in 1916, taking with him all the furniture, pictures and plate of the Count Palmy.

Russian prisoners of war were brought there to dig a deep underground shelter from aeroplane bombs.

Prince Eitel was seen every morning during his sojourns spading in the gardens of his chateau, an exercise to reduce his corpulence. French aviators surprised him at this exercise one morning in July last year. Their bombs induced Prince Eitel and his staff to move to other quarters not yet identified. The second division went on guard on the Somme in September, 1915, and Prince Eitel established quarters in the chateau of Templeux, in Fosse, about five miles from Peronne. After a fortnight's sojourn here, the prince was saluted one day by about 100 shells, so well aimed that the evacuation of the place became advisable.

FILE PROTEST AGAINST BAIL FOR LEHMANN

Fellow Citizens Do Not Want Alleged Murderer Liberated—Say He's Dangerous

PRELIMINARY HEARING BEFORE FOLSOM TODAY

Defendant Bound Over to Next Term of Court—State to Re-sist Bond Proposal

Dickinson, N. D., June 4.—A feature of the preliminary hearing of Adolph Lehmann, alleged murderer of Mathias Vetzstein, held before Justice of the Peace A. P. Folsom today, was the reading of a petition signed by 73 fellow citizens of Lehmann, from Richardson, protesting against the release of the prisoner on bail, and alleging that he is a dangerous character.

Consider Him Menace.

"We consider him a menace to the community," reads the petition, "and he has on many occasions uttered threats against certain of us, stating that he would do us bodily injury; that he has threatened certain of us, gun in hand, even when we have approached his home on peaceful errands; that we know of a number of occasions when he has threatened others and has given orders to his employees never to allow anyone to come on his property and to enforce his order by the use of firearms. In view of these facts, and to prevent trouble which is certain to arise if he again returns to Richardson, we ask that he be not admitted to bail, and that he be punished for his crime to the full extent of the law."

State to Fight.

States Attorney H. A. Burgeson has given assurance that the state will fight any proposition seeking to allow Lehmann to bail. The hearing today was purely formal, only one or two witnesses appearing, and Lehmann was bound over to the next term of district court.

SEVEN SEEKING PLACE ON BOARD OF EDUCATION

Electors of Bismarck Will Name Two Members of Body in Tuesday Election

Seven candidates will be ballotted upon at the regular school election to be held at the Wil school from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. tomorrow to fill the places on the board of education vacated by the expiration of the terms of G. C. Wachter and H. W. Richholt, who decline to seek re-election.

The candidates are: Cecil L. Burton, A. P. Lenhart, E. H. Howell, Mrs. G. S. Arnold, Mrs. D. B. Shaw, Joseph Schneider and Marcus A. Edberg.

The chief issue involved in tomorrow's election is that of a business administration of Bismarck's school affairs. Messrs. Lenhart and Burton are running on a straight business administration platform.

A good sized vote is anticipated tomorrow, and it is believed that registration will help rather than hinder the polling of a good representation.

This news was brought here today by Captain S. A. McDonald of the Arthas, who arrived in port directly from the scene of the robbery.

GERMANS MASS LARGE FORCES TO STOP DRIVE

Every Evidence That Teutons Are Ready to Make Vast Sacrifices

SLIGHT ADVANCE MADE BY BRITISH TO SOUTH

Situation in Russia Still Acute Especially in Kronstadt—Where Revolution Is in Progress

(By Associated Press.)

There seems ample evidence that the Germans are ready to sacrifice any number of men to hold the situation on the western front in hand. Along the French line they are making almost ceaseless counter attacks. Despite sanguinary repulses Sunday on the Vaucluse and Calonne plateau, they made a new thrust last night along the Chemin des Dames plateau. Paris reports that the Crown prince's troops took some advance French trenches.

The British have not been so active recently in counter attacks, but whenever they essayed an advance they found dense masses of Germans opposing them. The British official statement does not mention any further fighting in the vicinity of Lens, and apparently General Haig has not pressed further his advance made yesterday.

In an independent operation to the south, the British last night recaptured posts taken by Germans in attacks Saturday.

Situation Uncertain.

The situation in Russia continues uncertain. While better reports have come from the army at the front, Minister of War Kerensky declares the government is constantly increasing in power. Conditions in Petrograd are becoming still more unsettled.

Kronstadt will be declared morally boycotted, outlawed and cut off from the rest of the empire unless it immediately withdraws its defiance to the provisional government.

This statement was made to the Associated Press today by Minister of Justice Pervezhev.

"Kronstadt's defiance was discussed yesterday by the council of ministers," he said. "All agree that the government must now tolerate declarations of independence by separate districts. In this we are absolutely supported by the Petrograd council of deputies."

The cabinet will probably tomorrow, if in the meantime Kronstadt has not surrendered, issue a declaration that the fortress town has turned traitor to the revolution and become an enemy of Russia's new freedom. We are convinced that the universal reprobation of Russia will bring the extremists to reason.

"We do not take this revolt too seriously. Formerly when we had trouble in Kronstadt, we temporized because we feared the result of stern measures if the Germans attacked. Lately we have taken measures which make attack impossible. Therefore no harm can come to Russia from anything Kronstadt can do. Kronstadt's boast of independence is doomed to a speedy end."

Hero of Revolution.

The hero of the new Kronstadt revolution which yesterday deposed the Petrograd provisional government, is a youthful chemist, student of the Petrograd Technical college, Anatole Lamant, who by his eloquence, his flaming enthusiasm and his unexpected energy in many ways made himself president of the local council of workers and soldiers' committees and virtually Kronstadt's dictator.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, President Woodrow Wilson has designated June 5, 1917, as Registration Day, I, A. W. Lucas, President of the City Commission of Bismarck, appeal to the loyalty and patriotism of our citizens to make this registration complete and accurate. A grave crisis confronts the nation and it behooves every man between the ages of 21 and 30 years to present himself at the polling places designated between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. It should be borne in mind that a penalty of imprisonment is imposed upon all those neglecting to register for military service.

It is suggested that all citizens assist in this important task of registering all men between the ages designated in the selective federal draft act. Patriotic exercises would be especially appropriate to impress upon everyone the solemnity of the occasion. Civic bodies should confer and provide for a general community observance of June 5.

Therefore, I impress upon all within the prescribed ages the necessity of acquainting themselves with the provisions of the registration law so that none may be liable to prosecution under it.

Scientists Find Bird With Hands! Swims Climbs, Walks on Fours

By Frederick V. Kerly
New York, June 4.—Science has discovered a bird which walks on all fours with the aid of hands, on its wing tips; dives under water like a reptile, and is so little like any other bird it can scarcely fly at all.

The Hoatzin, although unmistakably a bird, is almost unable to fly. Its flight resembles that of an overfed hen," says Dr. Beebe.

At the end of its wings are unmistakable mittens or hands, with which it is able to grasp branches on which it makes its home.

The nests are invariably built over the water, on the forks or crossing of two branches. The young birds live on the soft leaflets of these thorn trees.

Not only do they resemble mammals by creeping about on all fours, using the wing tips as forefeet, but the head and neck distinctly resemble some strange extinct reptile.

The most astonishing thing about this remarkable bird, however, is that it dives and swims under water like a reptile. Describing his attempt to capture a young Hoatzin for the New York Zoological society, Dr. Beebe says:

"The young Hoatzin stood erect for an instant, then both wings were stretched straight back, not folded, bird-wise, but dangling loosely and reaching well beyond the body. For a considerable fraction of time he leaned forward."

"Then without apparent leap or jump he dived straight downward, as beautifully as a seal. There was a scarcely noticeable splash."

"Here I was in a modern boat, with the honk of motor horns sounding from the river road a few yards away through the bushes in the year 1916 and yet the curtain of the past had been lifted and I had been permitted a glimpse of what must have been a commonplace of what must have been common in the millions of years ago."

"Then we shoved out the boat and watched from a distance. Five or six minutes passed and a skinny, crooked, two-fingered mitten of an arm reared upward out of the muddy flood and the nestling, black and glistening, hauled itself out of the water. This must be the first amphibian have climbed out, shaken the water from its eyes and gasped in the thin air."

"But the young Hoatzin neither gasped nor shivered. There was not the slightest doubt, however, that this was its first introduction to water. Yet clearly as a seal leaps from a ledge it had dived from a height of 15 feet, about 50 times its own length as it was as it a human of 64 and dive 200 feet."

BELT SAVES LIFE
Plugged in Back, Heavy Leather Stops Bullet

Reider, N. D., June 4.—But for the fact that Fats Burgundy wore a heavy leather belt he would have been perforated when a partly spent high-powered rifle bullet, fired by some careless hunter, struck him in the middle of the back. The ball penetrated the thick leather and incoed itself in the flesh. The injured man was brought here, where the wound was found to be not dangerous.

STARTED TOO LATE TO GET SIGNATURES

Poole Assigns Reasons for Failure to Suspend Two Measures Through Referendum

T. H. Poole, who was in charge of the circulation of referendum petitions on the trading stamp and Sunday baseball bills, made the following statement to The Tribune:

"As a general proposition, to be successful in referring to the people an act passed by the legislature, the circulation of petitions should commence within a few days after the adjournment of the legislature; otherwise, the farmers of the state will be busy in the field and it is then next to impossible to reach them, and without the signatures from rural districts it means that at least 30 per cent of the legal voters in the cities, towns and villages must be secured in order to get the necessary 11,000 signatures, there being only 35,000 to 40,000 legal voters who reside outside of the rural districts.

"After it had been decided to refer these acts passed by the last legislature, war was declared and all interest became centered upon matters connected with the preparation for war, even the interest in the great American game of baseball began to wane, which to my mind and from my military experience is a serious mistake, as the physical condition of a soldier is of first importance, and athletics of all kinds is highly essential to make men fit for service, and they should be encouraged, rather than discouraged, at this time.

Fell by Wayside.

The referendum on house bill No. 427, commonly known as the anti-trading stamp act, fell by the wayside largely from the fact that the farmers, who are the largest consumers and purchasers, could not be reached at this season of the year.

"The only effect the failure of the referendum on this act will have will be to hasten it into court soon after July 1, instead of a year from now, which was the original plan, as it had been determined by those interested in the referendum of this act, if successful to enjoin the placing of the act on the ballot, which in effect was the enjoining of the petitions on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional.

"Arrangements have been made to test the constitutionality of this act in the courts immediately after it takes effect. The interests of the consumers and purchasers of the state are not going to be jeopardized to advance the personal interests of a certain merchant in the eastern part of the state who is the sponsor for this act.

Not Informed.

"Had the general public understood the purposes and working of the trading stamp act and the personal reasons for its passage it would have been defeated by the referendum. A few simple illustrations will convince any reasoning person that it is unconstitutional, a monstrosity and against both the interests of the local merchant and the purchaser. Under this act if you purchase from your local druggist for cash a gallon of rose water and a gallon of glycerine he must pay a license of $6,000.00 per annum if he issues or gives you coupons or cash register slips in any amount to be redeemed in merchandise as a discount for cash payment, but he can give you the coupons in the same amount without paying a license for so doing if he mixes the glycerine and rose water and calls it toilet water, he is then classed as a manufacturer. If you purchase $20 worth of iron from your blacksmith he is prohibited from giving you a discount for cash by issuing you coupons or cash register slips redeemable in merchandise. He may, however, make this same iron up into horseshoes, sell them to you and attach trading stamps or other devices to them and which he may redeem as a discount on your purchase for cash without paying a license. Your clothing merchant or tailor is prohibited from issuing or giving you trading stamps, coupons or other devices as a cash discount if you purchase from him $40 worth of woollen goods; but he may give you a discount redeemable in merchandise if he makes the cloth into a suit and attaches coupons or trading stamps to the suit of clothes. In other words, the act does not apply to a manufacturer, jobber, packer or distributor of merchandise, but does apply to all other dealers. The classification made in the bill is a fine one and makes it class legislation of the roughest kind and therefore unconstitutional.

"With reference to the baseball bill, which also included the prohibiting of shooting on Sunday will say, that the law was misunderstood. The legislature legalized the playing of baseball on Sunday, hence there was nothing moral or religious involved, the legislature having taken that aspect away from it. The only questions involved being, the kind of baseball to be played and whether an entrance fee could be charged, and these questions do not involve a matter of principal in any manner. If it is legal to play baseball on Sunday there is no reason why an entrance fee cannot be charged or why any kind of baseball should not be played. The word shooting as found in that bill will make it a violation of the statute for a farmer or anyone else to shoot gophers on Sunday; it will be illegal for the national guard, home guard or civilian rifle clubs to target practice on Sunday. The law plainly says that all shooting is prohibited, and therefore it is a violation of the statute to fire off a gun of any nature on Sunday. And in view of the war situation it will be seen how absurd this statute is.

Sailors Mutiny; Begin Attack

Petrograd, June 4.—It is reported that sailors from Kronstadt, whose garrison recently declared its independence of the central government, have landed at Gutnyoff island, port of Petrograd, and begun an attack.

Sailors from the Kronstadt garrison, which recently declared its independence of the central government, arrived in Petrograd early today with the announcement that warships at Kronstadt would come to Petrograd immediately and land men to make a demonstration. Later it was stated that sailors had landed at Gutnyoff, port of Petrograd, and began an attack.

A visit to this port, however, showed that the story of landing and attack was untrue. However, it was sufficiently alarming to provoke intense excitement in the city and caused the dispatch to the spot of a military force.

Petrograd awaited today the second demonstration by the Kronstadt warships, and as the time passed with no such ships coming, the announcement of the sailors was regarded by many as merely boastful talk.

The Kronstadt sailors said the dem

In street meetings they expressed dissatisfaction with War Minister Kerensky, and the whole provisional government, particularly for the abolition of the death penalty, which they characterized as premature.

he said, the government had not planned on sending to sea abroad so soon. Casualties in foreign service, he said, and sickness make necessary a reserve of 125,000 men, in addition to those on duty at training camps.

General Crozier told the committee he favored the immediate drafting of men for training, instead of postponing it. He regarded it desirable for men to know at once, so they may have a few weeks to make personal arrangements before being called to the colors.

ARE RELEASED.

St. Paul, Minn., June 4.—H. John and Frank Hoot arrested here yesterday for the alleged distribution of anti-conscription literature today were released on bail on the recommendation of R. F. Schroeder, assistant county attorney, who declined to issue a complaint for the federal authorities.

Special federal agents asked that the complaint be issued, holding that the propaganda was a violation of the public safety act passed by the last legislature. The county attorney's office held that the evidence given did not show a violation of the act.

BISMARCK MAN MAY SOON BE IN FRANCE WITH THE ENGINEERS

Paul Jewell Advised That Regiment Is Recruited to Full Strength

Paul Jewell, son of Mrs. M. H. Jewell, now home on furlough from the Third Cavalry, Fort Sheridan, Ill., with which he served as second lieutenant on the border, may be Bismarck's first soldier to reach the European war zone. Mr. Jewell has arranged for his transfer to the Sixth reserve regiment of railway construction engineers. He is advised that this regiment now has been recruited to full war strength, and probably will go into camp at Detroit, Mich., in a short time.

The regiment of engineers which will pave the way for the transportation of American troops and supplies to the French battle front is expected to be the first section of the American army sent across the Atlantic. Mr. Jewell has been given a commission as lieutenant-quartermaster with the engineers, and he expects orders to report within a few days.

LIBERTY LOAN BONDS BEING ABSORBED WITH EASE IN CAPITAL CITY

Bismarck Will Take 'More Than Its Quota of Big Loan—Want Early Reports

"Bismarck is absorbing its quota of the Liberty Loan issue with ease," said E. R. Shepard, cashier of the First National bank, this morning. "The bonds are being taken readily and in large blocks as well as in the smaller quantities ranging from one $50 bond up to $10,000. We have given out a great many application blanks to patrons who have made requests for them. Not all of these have been returned, and we would like to urge that all applications, if convenient, be turned in not later than June 15. We will, however, continue to receive applications up to the date the bonds are issued."

Reports from all parts of North Dakota indicate that every county is doing its full share, and that the Bismarck state's response will be a credit to its patriotism and loyalty.

May Reduce Train Service

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Reduction of train service as a war economy measure was approved today by the supreme court. It annulled orders of the Mississippi railway commission, which would have required the Mobile & Ohio railroad to restore six passenger trains. The railroad contended that some of the trains were in interstate commerce and that the state commission was powerless to enforce their continuance.

THREE ARRESTED ON SPY CHARGES

New York, June 4.—Federal authorities today arrested three men and intimidated further arrests might follow in an effort to disclose the existence of a German spy system. Apparently they hoped to uncover an explanation of how the Germans knew in advance of the approach of the American destroyers to the British coast.

The charge against the three men, at present, according to United States District Attorney Knox, is that of competing with the government by carrying mail in opposition to the government. Mr. Knox said the charge might later be made treason.

Two of the men are native Americans and the third is a Swiss. Examination of a quantity of mail seized by federal agents indicated the transmission of information by steamer to Mexico, from whence it was forwarded to Germany.

FOR YOUR COUNTRY.

In the world's history, many millions of young men have entered armies of navies and fought and died. It was for some tribal or national interest—for country. The aim of war was very often plunder, very often acquisition of territory, and not infrequently to force a particular religious belief upon the conscience of other peoples. In the wars of history the purposes of warfare have been largely confined to a single nation or coalition of a few nations. There has very seldom been anything like a world-issue, a world principle at stake. Rare have been the instances in which the fight was made in behalf of all humanity.

The present war is for all humanity. Since the world, through Christian influences and the higher development of mankind's intelligence, has come to demand the unalienable rights of life, equality and the pursuit of happiness. Either openly acclaimed by or held precious in the souls of the vast majority of men throughout civilization, rules the American Declaration of Independence.

John Adams, the lawyer; John Hancock, the merchant; Ben Franklin, the printer; Len Harrison, the farmer; Roger Sherman, the shoemaker; John Witherspoon, the minister; Oliver Wolcott, the doctor, and others who gave immortality to that declaration of July, 1776, risked hanging that a dozen of poor little colonies, with a few hundreds of thousands of beings might be free of autocracy which denies all common rights and aspirations save those of abject servitude.

The young American of today who offers his life in army or navy enlists in service for all humanity—all the nations of civilization, with their hundreds of millions of men, women and children and all the uncivilized peoples for whom there is hope of future rise from benightedness.

The torch lit in the grandeur of self-sacrifice and heroism by lawyers, farmers, shoemakers in '76 is in the hands of our American manhood to be made a sun whose rays shall lighten even the gloomiest regions where brother men cower and suffer under wrong, injustice and ignorance. It is the greatest, grandest opportunity offered in history.

Maybe the young American who reads this is to be conscripted, and conscription implies force. Young Man, don't go in with the slightest feeling that you're forced. You are specially selected for world-service that is opportunity such as few, if any, have ever had throughout all recorded time.

You are tested as to physical, mental and moral qualification, and pronounced fit to uphold the all-importance of human progress and happiness. The world needs you, calls you; you are fit, you are especially selected.

It is high honor, though your place be at the breach of a trench gun, or at a factory drill, or at the handle of a hoe.

It is America saying to the dying in the trenches, the starving in the homes of stricken Europe, "We are sending you our very best."

It is giving your children right to say, not, "My father was rich," or "My father held high office," but "My father was one of the heroes chosen to uphold freedom, justice and equality throughout Christendom when the fires of destruction raged highest and darkest."

But behind you all that you wanted to be all that you wanted to do! The greatest of life's opportunities is open to you—world-service.

There can be no higher honor than being picked from among your fellows to do or die in the crucial hour of civilization's status in a cause that is both God's and humanity's. Face front! Shoulder arms! Forward march! Let that human freedom, equality and happiness shall not perish from the earth.

COURT HOUSE SQUARE.

There need be no controversy over the paving about Court House Square. The communication published in the Tribune of Saturday from four of the city commissioners' paving committee completely clears the atmosphere.

The board of county commissioners should at the first opportunity pass the necessary resolutions. Two board members from Bismarck were in favor of the improvement originally. Surely now, when the issue is so thoroughly understood, there should be no hesitancy on the part of the county fathers and the Tribune anticipates none.

WORKING THE IDLE.

We suspect that West Virginia is seriously interested in the war. Any way, she has enacted that every male citizen between the ages of 16 and 60 shall do some kind of labor for at least 36 hours a week, or be put at road making and pay $100 fine. More over, she especially provides that "in no case shall possession of money, property or income constitute a legal defense against prosecution under this act."

And you needn't be shocked if West Virginia finds the plan so good that she'll keep the rich at labor for longer stunts, after the war. Thirty-six hours are 4 1/2 eight-hour labor days. This leaves 2 1/2 days a week which the idle can spend in church going and recreation. Plenty! A lot more than most of us get!

LESSON FROM A 'PHONE GIRL.

Here is the wind of an act that we all like to read about. A telephone operator at White House, L. I., received this call: "Give me Joseph Daly. For God's sake hurry. House full of gas."

Daly lived next door to the house from which the call came. But the quick-witted girl knew a better thing to do. She called the nearest doctor and got him on the double-quick to the gas filled house. The doctor found the whole family unconscious. But the girl's quick thinking saved four lives.

This is a fresh indication of the value of quick thinking. Everyone ought to learn to think quickly. Not all are naturally so endowed, but all can quicken their thought processes by effort.

Quick thinking means broader lives first of all. After that it means better jobs. It is worth while a hundred times over.

Learn to think rapidly—and logically. Use your brain. That's what you have it for.

We admire the little telephone girl for her splendid deed. And we are glad she has given us another lesson in the value of the human brain.

You have a brain. Make it pay you big dividends by serving you at top speed.

ENLIST YOUR MONEY.

Enlist your money. Sent it into service! Company, attention! Forward, March!

That's the speed. Don't hold back. This is a nation at war, and nobody is left out. There's something for all to do—and something for everybody's money to do!

Men are going into service. Short tens of thousands will be marching into training camps selected for service.

And you who have dollars, select them for service!

You, as president of your money, however much or little you may have, select some of it for service.

Don't delay about this. There is need for action at once.

And here's another thing you can do.

If you belong to an organization that has money in its treasury, start a move to have your organization use war heroes ever had throughout all recorded time.

Buy Liberty Bonds with your own money, get your club, your fraternal organization, your society, your union, to buy Liberty Bonds.

America's soldiers are going into the trenches. They are going to fight for liberty.

Liberty Bonds will pay their way—keep them fed and clothed and supplied with ammunition aplenty. Select your money for service!

TWO COMPANIES NOW STATIONED AT FT. LINCOLN

Co. F of Mandan Joins Co. K of Dickinson at Big Military Post South of City

BISMARCK BOYS WILL BE TRANSFERRED SOON

Fort Lincoln is slowly developing as a mobilization point. Company K of Dickinson, which has held the fort for the past week, this morning was joined by Company F of Mandan. The boys marched out to the fort early in the day, and this afternoon they are at home in the comfortable barracks which have been unoccupied since the calling of the regulars to the border.

Company A is temporarily left in charge of Camp Frazier as a guard for the Northern Pacific bridge. Later the local company will have its turn at the fort, while Company K will stand guard. It is planned ultimately to leave a detachment of not more than 24 men at the bridge. The remainder of the battalion, excepting Company H, which is still divided between Valley City and Fargo, will be employed in preparing the big military post for the concentration of North Dakota's two regiments of infantry.

Putting Fort in Shape. Work has been completed on the improvement of the Northern Pacific tracks up to the reservation, and the extensive alterations planned inside the reservation can be finished in two weeks when the war department gives its approval of plans submitted for its consideration some time ago. E. A. Hughes, president of the Hughes Electric Light company, has received a request from the war department for bids on two years' power supply for the fort, and requisitions have gone in for needed repairs to the plumbing and heating system. Everything points to an intention upon the part of the war department to use Fort Lincoln throughout the war as a mobilization point or concentration camp for a large force of men.

To Des Moines. Capt. B. F. Ristine, inspector-structor, assigned to the North Dakota national guard, left this morning for Des Moines, Ia., in response to a wire directing him to report there to the commanding officer. Whether this will mean the transfer of Captain Ristine could not be learned at local military headquarters.

SIX MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY BADLY HURT IN AUTO SMASH-UP

Barnesville, Minn., June 3. Three members of the Ora J. Lampton family of Baker, Minn., suffered broken bones and three others of the family sustained severe cuts and injuries as a result of the auto going over a 12-foot embankment near Sabin last Sunday. They were picked up by members of the Charles Olson family, who found the victims in a mass of broken glass. The six injured were rushed to the municipal hospital here.

Ora J. Lampton suffered a broken leg and dislocated shoulder, his wife a broken arm and his 14-year-old daughter a broken arm. An attempt to steer clear of a playful dog running ahead of the machine as it crossed the bridge, resulted in the auto plunging forward over the embankment.

MUCH TOO MUCH.

(Oscar Schell, in Health Culture.)
We eat too much. We heat too much. We try too much to heat too much. We grow too much. We scowl too much. We play the midnight owl too much.

We ape too much. We gawp too much, and daily with red tape too much. We treat too much and cheat too much, and fear to face defeat too much.

We spy too much. We lie too much, and snivel and deny too much. We say too much, and slave too much, with one foot in the grave too much. We spit too much. We spit too much, wear shoes too tight to fit too much. We mess too much and dress too much; in sixteen suits or less too much.

We spite too much. We fight too much and seek the great white light too much. We lead too much. We speed too much, hit dope and use the weed too much. We drink too much. We drink too much. I think we even think too much.

Going Over Speeders—A. A. Atkinson, arrested by Special Officer O. W. Roberts on a charge of speeding, was arraigned before Justice Blacklock this morning. "We're getting the number of these cars, and we intend to let them get away with one offense, but if there is a second the drivers will be given the limit. Cars have been reported making 25 and 30 miles the hour through generally used streets, and a thing of that kind can't happen more than once." Traffic Officer Scott McLean has a large amount of information stored away for future reference, and a determined campaign is to be made against the speeders.

"Personal Use"—"Setting 'em up' to one's friends doesn't come under the head of "personal use," as interpreted by the prohibition laws of North Dakota, so Police Magistrate Blacklock this morning informed a very coal-black colored man, who came in to see if the justice would let him have six quarts of whiskey which were seized at the Jennys home last week, when 14 quarts in all were confiscated. "Of course, judge," said the suppliant, "I could a drank myself all this booze they took en away from me, but when some of the boys drop in, of course I give them just a little taste, and then when I'm out they do the same by me." "Only four gallons" of whiskey since the first of the year have been consumed in this way, said the colored gentleman. Judge Blacklock advised him in treating his friends he had been violating the laws of the state, and that he ought to be mightily tickled to get off with the loss of the whiskey, which was duly seized this afternoon.

Curious to Know. Says Bismarck Smith in the Jewel Republican: "There are two things I have always been curious to know: What a horse thinks when he starves himself to get down more money, and what a belly horse thinks when he will take any kind of punishment rather than walk off quietly with a buggy." MERCER COUNTY EXAMINATION
The report of the special examiners who recently made an examination of the county officers was received by the Commissioners at the meeting held this week. It contains 140 typewritten pages, and from what we can learn does not bring out much of anything that was not common knowledge all over the county. We are informed that the bill for these services is some $1100, and after this sum is paid by the tax payers of Mercer county, they will hardly be any wiser than they were before.—Stanton Republican.

Windsor Outclassed in Poor Exhibition—Stanton Gives Hal-liday Drubbing

Bismarck slammed Deal, Windsor's much touted Fargo league pitcher, all over the lot yesterday, batting .12 clean hits and bringing in 11 runs, while the visitors made but four circuits of the bases. The exhibition, featured by Windsor's wildness, was witnessed by about 250 people.

Goldrick, on the mound for Bismarck, showed old-time form, holding the visitors to four scattered hits. Seven errors on Windsor's part materially assisted in Bismarck's run-getting. Deal had no control, and when he did succeed in clipping the corners, the Bismarckers had no difficulty in finding him. The locals placed their hits where they did the most good, and Kirk seems to have an aggregation of sluggers who will live up to last year's reputation.

Stanton Beats Hallday. Hallday, N. D., June 4.—Sunday, before a crowd of 600 people, Stanton defeated Hallday to the tune of 3 to 1. Brown of Stanton struck out 11 men; Gardner, in the box for Hallday, striking out 8. Stanton comes to Hallday again the 24th, when the deciding game will take place.

SELECTIVE SERVICE...WHY
By Woodrow Wilson
President Wilson has told, better than any other man, why selective service is needed and what it means to the man and the nation. The following paragraphs are taken from the president's selective service proclamation:
"The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies, there are no armies in this struggle."
"There are entire nations armed. Thus, the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are no less a part of the army that is in France than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this cannot be if each man pursues a private purpose."
"All must pursue one purpose. The nation needs all men, but it needs each man, not in the field that will most pleasure him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good."

WHY A FREIGHT RATE ADVANCE?

To the general proposition that the railroads are entitled to charge more than the present rates for their services while war price for labor and materials obtain, the shippers, as a whole, have offered little opposition. It is safe to say that a majority of them concede that an advance in rates is not only justified in fairness to owners of railroad securities, but is actually required to enable the carriers to perform their vital function in a time of national crisis.

Such opposition as there is proceeds, first, from groups of shippers who assert that a flat percentage advance will bar their access to markets in competition with nearer producers; and second, from a small but active experienced coterie of state commissioners and rate attorneys who may, without unmerited disrespect, be referred to as professional objectors. Just claims of the first class the commission may be relied upon to recognize through modifications of the proposed traffic or postponement of their effective date in specific cases.

All of the elaborate and at times confusing statistics of last week's hearing in Washington may be put into a nutshell by saying that if the increase in expenses for 1917 approximates the estimates which leading railroad executives, on their oath, say have been carefully and conservatively prepared, and based upon higher unit costs already in force, the net revenues of the carriers as a whole for this year will be less than they were for the fiscal year 1914 by percentages $100,000,000, or 14 per cent. They will be something like $200,000,000, or 25 per cent, under those of 1913, and well below those of either 1912 or 1911, notwithstanding that the carriers are doing half again as much business as in the last named year, and have invested in round numbers $300,000,000 in additional facilities since that time.

Heretofore the American method of rate regulation has been to refuse to look to the clearly indicated developments of the near future and to require the railroads to justify their pleas for higher rates upon hardships actually experienced. In 1914, the commission found that the net revenues of the carriers east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio rivers were "smaller than is demanded in the interest of both the general public and the railroads." It then allowed an advance of 5 per cent upon roughly half of the traffic moving in that territory. During the next year the commission added increases in interstate passenger fares, the benefits of which were in part defeated by the refusal of states to alter their two-cent fare-laws.

All of these rate increases were nullified practically before they became effective by rising operating costs. About the middle of 1915, the carriers began to enjoy the rising tide of prosperity in the United States which had its impetus in the demand of warring Europe for food, raw materials, and the munitions of war. Net earnings reached unprecedented proportions early in 1916, and continued on a high level until about the end of the year. Then came the Adamson law, and increases in practically all wage scales, and soon thereafter the expiration of contracts for fuel and steel supplies which had been made at the comparatively low prices of 1915 and the first months of 1916.

Swallowing the dangerous assumption that the adjustment of rates to conditions that are past would work in ordinary times, we must consider today that the United States has entered upon a military and economic struggle certain to test, if not to strain, even its enormous resources, to say nothing of its capacity for organization and for handling quickly a huge volume of unfamiliar business. That ample transportation service of the best kind is the first essential to success in such a venture is not open to argument.

Is it the part of wisdom, then, just as we are about to ask of the railroads an amount and character of service never required before, to compel them to go back to the admittedly unsatisfactory fiscal status of three or four years ago, which would in all probability bring another string of receiverships and reorganizations in its train, before we afford them any relief from rigid rates and rising costs? The question answers itself.

CAPITOL NOTES

DELAYED BY SNOWSTORM.
Edward Erickson, state inspector of rural and graded schools, is in town after spending several days in Hettinger, Adams and Golden Valley counties. While in Adams county he was housed in one day by a heavy wet snowstorm, which proved a lifesaver for the growing crops and left them looking fine.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE.
A majority of the schools in the state will have closed for the summer by the end of next week, and many of them will not open again until the middle of October or the first of November. In order that the thousands of school children may assist with the harvesting of North Dakota's bumper crops next fall, it has been suggested that these school children during the summer months be organized into a special land reserve; drilled in the cultivation of the soil, and provided with a special uniform as a means of stimulating an interest in farm work.

MAIL INSURANCE.
Reports to Deputy Insurance Commissioner Sheehan, in charge of the state hail department, indicate that the patronage for this fund will run about the same as last year. The amount of business done in May was almost exactly the same as that of a year ago. June will see more business done, as the real demand for crop protection does not begin until the farmer is reasonably certain that he is to have some crops to protect.

The 21 girls wore for the first time the regulation dress, white Peter Thompsons with black ties, as decreed by the board of education.

These gowns will be worn for the class night exercises Tuesday evening and at commencement Thursday evening.

The musical program was presented by the high school orchestra, the girls' trio of the high school, Mrs. J. A. Larson of the alumni and George Humphreys and Henry Halverson. The invocation was given by Rev. Bruce E. Jackson and the benediction by Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite.

COSTUME PERFECT IN EVERY DETAIL

MRS. ANGIE B. DUKE.

New York, June 4.—The most convincing kind of fashions are those adapted to some society function. Horse shows and race tracks are famous places for exhibition of absolutely correct styles.

At the Belmont park races, Mrs. Angie B. Duke, one of New York's best dressed young women, was snapped in the simplest of frocks. The costume is perfect in every point, from the broad poke hem to the slender pumps with the new "square throat."

The loose wristed gloves, enormous pleated neck frill, small melon shaped bag, scalloped button flaps and hand dress trimmings, are separate features of an ensemble which is sure to be studied by any girl or woman having a taste for what is really artistic in dress.

Avenue B, at a prettily appointed birthday luncheon. Covers were laid for 12. The guests included only intimate school friends of the honor guest. Games and music furnished the amusements. Miss Hazel received many beautiful gifts.

For Small Daughter.
Mrs. R. C. Forsyth entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in Ninth street, at a prettily appointed birthday party in honor of the first anniversary of her daughter, June Madeline. Twenty little guests attended. A large birthday cake with the name of the honor guest centered the luncheon table. A number of gifts were presented to little June. Mrs. Forsyth was assisted by Miss Lyon of Canada, who is the house guest of Mrs. I. N. Forsyth. Mrs. Hochstadt of Ashland, Wis., was the out of town guest.

Cunningham-Prenevo Nuptials.

Father Hiltner read the service. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, with lace trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her long tulle veil was caught in place with a pearl band. Miss Helen Lucas, as bridesmaid, wore a creation of rose-crepe de chine, with white picture hat. At Prenevo was his brother's best man. A wedding breakfast supplemented the church service in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, in Broadway. Covers were laid for 14 at the bride's table, and white roses formed the centerpiece. Miss Evelyn Prenevo of St. Paul, sister of the groom, was an out of town guest. Mr. Prenevo and his bride departed on No. 4 for Des Moines, where they will make their home. At home cards announce July 1 as their first at home day. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Many pre-nuptial affairs have been given in her honor within the last few weeks. The groom was formerly connected with the Dakota Printing company of this city, but is now engaged in business with his brother in Des Moines.

Red Cross Musical Is Splendid Success

The musical given Saturday evening in the high school auditorium by the junior high school pupils of Mrs. Wheeler was worthy of considerable commendation. The program consisted of piano and voice numbers and reflected much credit on their instructor. Interpretative remarks were given preceding the numbers. A marked feature of the program was the splendid technique and stage presence of the young entertainers. The second of the series of recitals will be given next Saturday evening. The proceeds to be given to the Red Cross. A liberal contribution was given by those attending.

Other Red Cross Notes.
The young women of the Presbyterian church will meet this evening at the manse in Avenue B, to sew for the Red Cross section.

The woman's auxiliary to Co. A will meet Tuesday afternoon at the Red Cross headquarters in the new nurses' home and contribute several hours' work. Other organizations will assist during the week.

Green Room Gossip

"Daddy Long Legs," which has twice appeared at the Auditorium, is showing to capacity every day at matinee and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at the Duke of York's theater, London, with Renee Kelly, C. Aubrey Smith and Fay Davis in the principal parts.

"High Jinks," one of the great successes of the 1915 season at the Auditorium, is still playing to big money at the Adelphi, London, with Marie Blanche, W. H. Berry and Nellie Taylor in the leads.

Forbes Robertson and Winifred Emery, who scored the greatest success of the 1916 season at the Bismarck Auditorium, are now being featured at the Queen's London, England, in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." Probably no attraction which ever has been offered at the Auditorium left a more lasting impression than Sir Forbes Robertson in this same role about a year ago.

D. W. Griffith's great picture drama, "Intolerance," scheduled for an early appearance in Bismarck, now holds the boards at the Drury Lane Royal in London.

The largest individual subscriber, Mr. Wildfang states, was S. T. Parke general merchant of Sterling and the village postmaster. The fact that Sterling, with less than 100 people, with the aid of surrounding farms, subscribed to more than $8,000 worth of bonds, has attracted much favorable attention to the patriotic little village.

RACINE COUNTRY ROAD TIRES
Are Receiving Much Attention From Automobileists the Country Over.

Local motorists are giving more attention than ever before to the selection of tires, according to an official of the Corwin Motor company of Bismarck, local representatives of the Racine Rubber company of Racine, Wis. They handle the famous Racine Country Road tires exclusively in this territory, and report a volume of spring business this year of greater magnitude than ever before.

"The motor car owner," he asserts, "is rapidly coming to realize that the life of his car and the pleasure he derives from driving are largely dependent on tires."

"Racine Country Road Tires," he points out, "are the only tires, especially designed and constructed to meet the severe service requirements of country road travel. Country road driving, it has been proved, is the hardest use to which automobiles can be subjected, and it has also been demonstrated that a considerable majority of car owners do more driving over country roads than over city pavements."

"Therefore," he explains, "the Racine Country Road Tires, scientifically built to give maximum mileage over country roads particularly, are proving a tremendous boon to motorists, not only in and around this city, but in all parts of the United States."

The peculiar tread of Racine Country Road Tires is said to effectively do away with danger of skidding or side-slipping on country roads or city pavements. Extra strength of fabric is assured by the "feather edge" method by which Racine workmen build up these tires.

The local distributor points out, too, that a 5,000-mile guarantee covers every Racine Country Road Tire that leaves the plant at Racine.

EATING HIMSELF OUT OF BASEBALL

Al Mamaux Is Putting Crimp Into Great Baseball Career by Not Controlling His Appetite

By PAUL PURMAN.
Will Al Mamaux eat himself out of baseball?
The star Pittsburgh pitcher of 1915 and 1916 has failed to show anything so far this year which in any way resembles his wonderful effectiveness of the last two years and those who know him intimately say that the youngster's refusal to take advice and curb his appetite is the reason for his failure.

Mamaux should be one of the most effective pitchers in the league this year. But 22 years old, there is no reason why he should not be better than last year, if he takes proper care of himself.

Mamaux does not dissipate, in the way dissipation is generally regarded. He does not drink nor does he ordinarily keep late hours.

But Mamaux eats anything any time and uses no judgment in his selection of the food. He is just as likely to make a night of lobster and ice cream as not and he eats much candy and rich foods which threaten to ruin his digestive organs.

The change in Mamaux's pitching is told in the figures. He has worked in five games this year and lost all of them, two to Cincinnati, two to St. Louis and one to Chicago. He did not work in a full game on the eastern trip and was not effective when he was started. He has allowed a fraction under five earned runs per game this year.

In 1916 Mamaux won 21 and lost 17 games and allowed 2.23 earned runs per game. In 1915 he won 31 and lost 8 games, allowing 2.03 earned runs per game.

If Mamaux eats himself out of baseball he will be following the example of Elmer Flick, who ruined his stomach by heavy eating, and was forced to give up what might have been a promising baseball career.

Flick would eat a heavy meal before going out to play baseball. Most ball players eat only a little soup or a bowl of milk.

Many players with great prospects have lost out in baseball because of not using good judgment in their habits.

Larry McLean, who could have been one of the greatest of catchers, kidded himself out of baseball. McLean refused to take himself, his job or anything else seriously. Dave Robertson came close to making the same mistake, but John McGraw saw what was coming and talked Robertson into looking at things more seriously.

WHEAT BALL LATEST CAUSE FOR WORRY

South Bend, Ind., June 4.—Now it is the "wheat ball" that is causing worry to batters in the Central League. Pitcher Cummins of the Fort Wayne club is accused of using the delivery. Players allege that Cummins carries a pocketful of crushed grains of wheat and chewing it produces a substance which gives his fingers a powerful grip on the ball, causing it to hop freakishly as it passes the batter.

WRESTLING WILL STRENGTHEN MUSCLES OF SIDE, SAYS RICE

Watch a man who has never gone in for much exercise walking. Notice how he sways from side to side at every step. This is because the muscles of his waist are not strong enough to carry the upper part of the body. All the previous leg exercises I have given, and the directions for walking in the proper manner will help tone up these muscles. But there is a very simple exercise that can be taken in your bedroom that will direct special attention to this part of your body.

ed in following out my scheme for developing the body get him to wrestle with you for a few minutes as often as possible. It doesn't matter much whether you know the difference between the catch-as-catch-can or the Greco-Roman styles of pinning a man's shoulders to the mat. The main thing is for both of you to get a good grip around the other fellow's waist and to have a good healthy struggle together. This wrestling will work wonders with a man's waist muscles besides bringing into play many other parts of his anatomy.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PITCHING BEST, THAT'S WHY NATIONAL BATTERS HAVE HIGH MARKS

By PAUL PURMAN.
The American league is getting better pitching than John Tener's circuit if batting averages tell anything about the records of big stars.

Sisler around .330 and Cobb but .315. It may be that Speaker will not hit more than .345 this year. His nine-year average is .341, but it is hard to suppose that Cobb will be held below .320.

For the first time in half a dozen years National league batters are out-hitting the chief swatsmen on Johnson's ring and the only explanation is that National league pitching has weakened.

There is no reason to suppose that George Burns, Fischer, Rousch and Griffith are better hitters than Speaker, Sisler and Cobb, but the records show they are hitting from .30 to .60 points higher than the American league stars.

There is no reason to believe that George Burns, Fischer, Rousch and Griffith are better hitters than Speaker, Sisler and Cobb, but the records show they are hitting from .30 to .60 points higher than the American league stars.

Rousch of Cincinnati, and Fischer of Pittsburgh, are both hitting better than .360 and neither of them have been considered more than mediocre ballplayers.

The only explanation is the difference in the pitching in the two leagues with the median favor of those of the American league.

Speaker is batting at a .350 rate, from eight to six. It is believed this action will increase the number of entries in each event and thus improve the racing. The meeting will be sanctioned by the American Trotting association.

NATIONAL BASEBALL COMMISSION WOULD PUNISH OFFENDERS

Chicago, June 4.—Now that the National Baseball Commission has legislated against the "bean ball" and proposed to punish the pitcher convicted of using it, Fred Mitchell, manager of the Chicago Nationals, wants to know who is to distinguish between the "bean ball" and a wild pitch. "That is going to cause more trouble to umpires than they ever had before," Mitchell said. "They cannot distinguish when a pitcher deliberately throws a ball at a batter's head or lets go a wild pitch."

"Bean Ball" Puzzles Major League Leader

St. Louis, Ky., June 4.—Although hit 23 times last season, Jack Barry, manager of the Boston Americans, does not believe in the existence of the "bean ball." He asserts he never has witnessed a deliberate attempt by any pitcher to hit a batsman on the head.

"The 'bean ball' is something I know nothing about," Barry said in discussing the National Baseball commission's ruling threatening the expulsion of a pitcher found guilty of using the delivery.

"I was hit by pitched balls 23 times last season, but I am confident none of the pitchers tried to hit me. When ball players complain about the 'bean ball' it always sounds like an alibi to me."

Barry's record of being hit 23 times last season is one never equaled in the modern major leagues.

How to eradicate the "bean ball" is a question puzzling players, managers and umpires alike. Barry laughs at the idea of anybody deciding the question.

"Suppose that a pitcher is wild; what then?" Barry asks. "That's what every fan is asking—'What then?'"

PASTURE FOR RACE HORSES TO BE TILLED

Louisville, Ky., June 2.—General Manager M. J. Winn of the new Louisville Jockey club has written United States Senator Ollie M. James that the club, anxious to do its bit in the war, has decided to add to the food production of the country.

The beautiful centerfield of Churchill Downs, with its 40 acres of virgin soil, upon which for nearly 50 years have grazed many of the famous horses of Kentucky, will be plowed up and planted in potatoes, under the supervision of an expert.

It is expected the crop will be ready for gathering while the autumn meeting is in progress. It will be

LEAGUE PARKS TO STAGE CELEBRATION ON REGISTRATION DAY

Chicago, June 4.—Patriotic demonstrations will be staged in all major league parks on June 5, the day set aside for registration under the new universal military service law. This is the special order of the national baseball commission, which recommended that all clubs engage bands on that day to play stirring airs at intervals during the games.
